

Consideration

Consideration is dedicated to my father, whose approach to life, and art, is quite considerate. The concentric circles are level-sets of a quadratic polynomial. Like in enthusiasm, three curves are tangent to a parabola. In consideration only those special curves were chosen. One of them is combined (colour-wise) with the parabola. Together they form a quartic curve, the closed part of which is now on the inside. Most considerations are internal, but their manifestation will be presented beautifully.