

Embryonic

Part of a series that started with Eight implies nine and Study of the ninth. The ninth is the Cayley-Bacharach point, which keeps tickling curiosity.

Embryonic was created (and is best viewed) while listening to the eponymous album of The flaming lips.

Given six points and a seventh, there is a unique curve which contains the six points and is singular at the seventh. If the eighth point is chosen to be on that curve, the ninth will be infinitely near the seventh.